Tour of the Ornithology Collection at the Cincinnati Museum Center's Geier Center on Friday, March 19 at 7 pm

Please join the Cincinnati Bird Club at the Cincinnati Museum Center's Geier Center for a tour of their Ornithology collection. Herm Mays, Curator of Zoology, and birder, will be hosting the event. The date for this event is FRIDAY, MARCH 19 AT 7 PM.

The Ornithology collection consists of over 20,000 study skins with about 1,700 species represented. Materials date from the early 1800s and include the historical collections of Charles Dury, Frank W. Langdon, Herbert W. Brandt and Ralph Todd Kellogg. More recent names in local birding including Ron Austing, John Ruthven and possibly even your name can be found within the collection. Endangered and extinct species, such as the Ivory-billed Woodpecker, Passenger Pigeon, Carolina Parakeet, and Great Auk are included.

Please bring ideas of species you would like to see up close and personal. This will be a good chance to compare field marks of similar species. Methods of storage and preparation of specimens will be discussed and displayed. Have you ever wondered what the Cincinnati Warbler looked like? This will be your chance. Each bird in the collection has a story that is told by the information on its tag. When salvaging birds it will be evident why collecting all possible data is critical in telling each birds story.

This tour will be taking place on Friday, March 19, at 7 PM to accommodate Herm's schedule. The Geier Center is located at 760 West Fifth Street, Cincinnati, Ohio. This is NOT the Union Terminal building.

Traveling from the North: take I-75 South to exit 1F for Freeman Avenue towards US 50 West. Turn left onto Gest Street and travel ½ mile where you turn right onto West 5th Street. The Geier Center will be on the right.

March Birding Field Trip Sponsored by CBC: Auto-tour of Brookville Lake

8 am Sunday, March 14th

Meeting Place: Park & Ride SR 128/I-275
(Miamitown)

Leader: Jay Stenger, (513) 522-8147, jaystenger@cinci.rr.com

This trip will last most of the day and consist mainly of caravanning by car from spot to spot checking for birds. Bring your lunch, drinks and make sure you have gas in your tank. Spring waterfowl migration should be in full swing and 18+ species of Anatidae (ducks, geese, and swans) should be possible. A variety of loons, grebes, gulls, and eagles and other raptors, early spring migrants and late winter visitors may also be found. A spotting scope is recommended, but shouldn't deter you from coming. Club members are usually generous in letting you look through their scopes if you don't have one.

Directions: We will meet at 7:30 a.m. at the Park & Ride lot on SR 128, located at the I-275 Miamitown exit # 7. From there we will caravan to Brookville.

Other Birding Field Trips

In addition to the Cincinnati Bird Club trip to Brookville, other local birding and conservation groups are organizing field trips in March. Details about these trips can be found on the respective group's websites or by contacting the trip leader.
